AUCTIONEER

- Tiny Holly -

From Auctioneer to Public Speaker to Comedian ... The name Tiny Holly is becoming well known around corporate circles both in his home state of WA and across the nation.

With country in his veins, Tiny was born and raised in Geraldton, WA, on a small family farm - but now resides in the south-west town of Harvey.

From as far back as the tender age of 11, Tiny wanted to be an auctioneer after hearing the Leroy Van Dyke song, "Auctioneer."

From that day on... with a gum tree branch as his gavel... He practiced his trade... while he sold in his fast auctioneer voice, he'd ride his ponies around the paddock each morning.

A woolclasser by trade, Tiny joined Elders in 1987 as junior stock agent and auctioneer, working in rural business as an auctioneer and cattle buyer.

In 2008, Tiny started his own business "Have Gavel, Will Travel" and hasn't looked back.

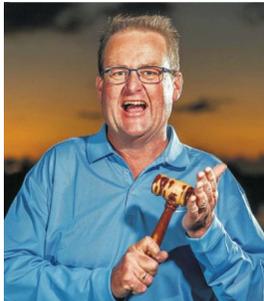

Now one of the state's most sought after Auctioneers, he clocks up the kilometres while he presides over more than 200 auctions a year, both in the corporate and livestock sectors.

A sufferer of depression and a survivor, Tiny has also immersed himself in Public Speaking on the topic so close to his heart.

A big community man, Tiny's auctioneering prowess has raked in more than $17 500 000 for charities and communities.

Tiny considers himself the luckiest man alive with THE best job in Australia.

Tiny may be his name but auction with big results is his game... don't look past "Have Gavel, Will Travel."
